

A Patriots Plan for the Future

pa - tri - ot \ 1: one who loves his country and zealously supports its authority and interests (taken from Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary)

I am one of the greatest and well know patriots in history. I was born half past six on the evening of April 20th. I was born in a small town to a Customs official and a housewife. As a young boy I sang in the church choir and was an excellent student. I loved to paint and draw and hoped to one day become an architect. I dropped out of school to try to get into an admirable art institute. However, I did not make it into the institute, so I started to make postcards of landmarks just to get by. This lifestyle was not up to my expectations so I joined the army. Soon after I joined, the army surrendered the war we were currently fighting. I was very upset. I started attending Workers Party meetings to try to start the government over again. My natural ability to speak and my strong feelings on the problems with our country pushed me to the front to take the position as leader of the Workers Party. I soon started making public speeches on how I thought the world and government should be. With every speech I made I gained more and more followers. One speech I made especially gained support of many people. Here is just a portion:

"This year will go down in history. For the first time a civilized nation has full gun registration! Our streets will be safer, our police more efficient, and the world will follow our lead into the future!"

I was a visionary leader, and I wanted my country to be the best in the world. This alone makes me the greatest patriot in the history of the world. I built a massive and powerful army to protect and expand my country. I would have done anything for the betterment of my country. So am I a patriot? Yes? I thought so too. Oh yes, I forgot to tell you my name; Adolph Hitler. Am I still a patriot in your eyes?

Note to reader:

I would strongly like to express my undeniable hatred towards Adolph Hitler and anyone else who has such a tunneled view upon life. Hitler is only patriot by definition but that is all. He doesn't fit into the mold of an Abraham Lincoln or a George Washington or a Paul Revere. These are the images that first pop into our heads when the word "patriot" is mentioned. Hitler was one of the most, if not the most, cruel men to ever walk the face of the earth. His belief in the superiority of the "Aryan" race made him hate all others, but do his asinine beliefs make him any less of a patriot? No, I don't believe so, although the word "patriot" means a little less now.
